

No. No. Making easy choices, hiding, living in the shadows made sense when we were young, but this is different. It's time we start acting like grown ups. These two men could destroy everything. Once the empire realizes we're still out here, it's over.

With this one decision, we could all end up dead. Any hope for the order snuffed out with us. If they live the empire will come after us.

And we can't win or run.

We all need to be on board with this.

Don't do this, Dar. It isn't too late, we can stop we can go back to the ship, together.

Back to the ship? You mean the ship with your friend the stormtrooper? Your mercy keeps our biggest threats right
where they can betray us.

Your willingness to kill will destroy all
of us. Focus, think,
this won't go our
way.

Everything we managed to hold on to. Gone.

How? By keeping us together?
By keeping those who would threaten us away? They took everything from us!

This has gone
far enough,
we have to stop it.

No.

